Palace of Nestor, 1 km : The Palace of Nestor is the central building of a Middle Helladic era settlement surrounded by a fortified wall. The palace was a two-storey building with store rooms, workshops, baths, light wells, reception rooms and a sewage system. The site is the most well preserved Mycenaean Greek palace discovered. During excavation in 1939 around 1,000 Linear B tablets were identified. The settlement had been long occupied with most artefacts discovered dating from 1300 BC. The palace complex was destroyed by fire around 1200 BC.

Battaglia di Navarino, 5 km : La battaglia di Navarino fu combattuta nelle acque del porto del Peloponneso il 20 ottobre 1827, nel quadro della guerra d'indipendenza greca. Le flotte alleate inglesi, francesi e russe distrussero la flotta egiziana di Ibrahim Pascià, inviata in aiuto alle forze ottomane impegnate nella repressione greca. Gli eccidi compiuti dagli ottomani nel corso della guerra d'indipendenza greca avevano scosso l'opinione pubblica europea; peraltro solo la Russia avrebbe tratto immediato vantaggio da un indebolimento dell'Impero Ottomano. Dopo lunghe manovre diplomatiche, le tre potenze occidentali avevano concordato l'invio di forze navali, sostanzialmente per interpersi e dissuadere gli ottomani ed i loro alleati egiziani dal compiere ulteriori rappresaglie. Le istruzioni agli Ammiragli (le regole d'ingaggio, come verrebbero chiamate oggi) non prevedevano azioni offensive contro gli ottomani e gli egiziani, ma in risposta a colpi di moschetto partiti da una lancia turca contro una lancia...

Archaeological Museum of Messenia, 1 km : The Archaeological Museum of Messenia is located in Kalamata, the capital of the prefecture of Messenia in southern Greece. The museum is built on the site of the city's old market hall. Among else its collection includes the finds which were formerly kept in the Benakeion Archaeological Museum of Kalamata, a remarkable 1742 building of Venetian architecture which collapsed during the 1986 earthquake. The new museum holds antiquities from Messenia from prehistoric and Mycenaean times to the Byzantine and Latin eras, divided along the four geographic areas that traditionally made up Messenia: Kalamata, Messene, Pylia and Triphylia.
